GILBY ON GUARD.

While He Protects Williams' Interests Jacobus Negotiates.

All day yesterday hotel affairs were in an unsettled condition. Constable Gilby sat on the front stairs, from where he guarded the exits of Hotel American to see that Mr. Jacobus removed no properties. He was more particularly interested in some bar furnishings and a safe.

He looked over the baggage of departing guests with the scrutiny of a customs house official to see that no smuggling was done and at a late hour last night he declared, while sitting drowsily in an arm chair, that he will stick to his post until the law be appeased.

In the meantime the genial Mr. Jacobus was indulging in diplomatic negotiations with the Anthracite Land and Improvement company for a lease of the lower house. At 10 o'clock last night the directors of the company went into executive session at the parlors of the Anthracite. Mr. Jacobus was there and the deal was closed.

It had practically been settled before, so that about all that remained to be done was the signing of the papers. The Hotel American guests who intend to stand by Mr. Jacobus took supper at the Anthracite last evening and some of the help has gone on duty there.

It is expected that Mr. Fabel will leave today.

This is a part of the course being given under the auspices of Carbondale's corps of teachers. There will be no fee, and all of our citizens are invited to attend the lectures. Doctor Brumbaugh is said to be the leading authority on the subject which he will treat. The history of the grand old Keystone state should interest every one of its sons and daughters.

HONEDALE'S EXCELLENT NERVE.

Carbondale appears to be in some kind of a head middle most of the time. The trouble with Carbondale is that she has excessive protruberance of the cranium. With her limited population she tries to conduct two hotels on the plan of Hotel Jermyn, of Scranton, or the Allen house, of Honesdale. Wayne Independence.

By putting Hotel Jermyn and the Allen house in the same class Honesdale has made it known that it excels in at least one thing—nerve.

CARTLOADS OF ABUSE.

It is said that when Barney Barnato gave a picnic at the opening of the Johnstown water works he related an incident that had happened to him in London some time before. A seedy-looking man, describing himself as a journalist, called on him one day and offered to cut out from papers, etc., all the complimentary things said about Mr. Barnato. The genial man of millions saw that the man was "down on his luck," and engaged him on the spot at a salary of £10 per month. This was quite characteristic of "Barney's" sudden and irresponsible franks.

At the end of six months the man, who had been paid monthly, again called on Mr. Barnato and presented a huge bundle of clippings from newspapers, asking whether he should continue the work, relates the Westminster Budget. "No," replied Barney, "but I will engage you for six months at the same salary to cut out all the nasty things you can find said about me." Another six months elapsed, and once more the indefatigable paper-clipper turned up and reported his work to be finished. "Well," asked Barney, "where are the results of your work?" Here Barney assumed his gravest aspect as he repeated the man's reply: "I have not been able to bring them in; there are two cartloads outside!"
